Family

The Touches that Matter

You'll sense something very different at The Crest nursing and rehabilitation center. The smallest of things can convey it; a touch, a smile, a hug. It's something you'll notice immediately because our staff and volunteer workers know the importance of individualized care and familiar faces. We want you to know you are giving your parent, sibling or friend into the hands of someone who will treat them like family.

We also want to assure you we are caring for the whole person. Through social interaction and activities, as well as continued involvement in community and family, we help residents to feel both emotionally and medically secure.
